

How 0 Kiss a guy

when you're not dating him

Flirt. It's like giving him hints, but a tad bit more advanced; your hand on his hand, hug him when he meets up with you to talk, giggling or make short laughs any time he tries to make you laugh, even at his corny jokes, etc. Do this for 10-13 days or until and whom he starts to do the same back at you.

Make sure he's single. You don't want to get a boy to kiss you and his girlfriend finds out you kissed him, if they really do have a crush on "him". This is the time you have to do some investigating. Make and see what he does. Give him hints to show you're interested in him. Simple things like smiling at him, repeat step 3 until he does. Become Friends. To become friends with him, do the same as you did when you became friends with a guy for you don't have a crush on. Look for signs of 12 things you want most out of your typical dream guy. Sneak and see what he has some interest towards you also. Signs he might show are constant staring, touching you on the arm or shoulder (doesn't necessarily include tapping), smiling, etc. If nothing happens at all, repeat step 3 until he does. Hang with him for about 2 weeks and eventually your friends. But the thing that might happen is that he might be interested in you. So to boost the interest up, it's time for you to move on to step 6.

Make your move. Mostly at this point, girls may get a little jumpy. Keep your cool though. Tell your crush to meet you somewhere you know personally that not a lot of people go.

1. Make sure he's single. You don't want to get a BOY

to kiss you and his girlfriend finds out you kissed him, that could get ugly.

2. See if he's the right boy. Sometimes GIRLS have trouble figuring out if they really do have a crush on "him". This is the time you have to do some investigating. Sneak around and see what he does.

3. Give him hints to show you're interested in him. Simple things like smiling at him is not so hard. that tell he is interested as well. Signs he might show are: constant staring, touching you on the arm or shoulder (doesn't necessarily include tapping), smiling etc.

If nothing happens at all, repeat step 3 until he does.

5. Become Friends. To become friends with him, do the same as you did when you became friends with a guy you don't have a crush on.

6. Flirt. It's like giving him hints, but a tad bit more advanced; your hand on his hand, hug him when he meets up with you to talk, giggling or make short laughs any time he tries to make you laugh; even at his corny jokes, etc. Do this for 10-13 days or until and when he starts to do the same back at you. 7. Make your move. Mostly at this point, GIRLS may get a little jumpy. Keep your cool though. Tell your crush to meet you somewhere you know personally that not a lot of people go. But don't choose to meet each other in an alley. 9. Kiss.

8. Show more interest. Try looking into a stare. Hold it long enough to make him fade out his smile. SMILE too to make it seem you lost control of yourself. Now he's under your spell.

might show are: constant staring, touching you on the arm or shoulder (obviously), include tapping) smiling, etc.

when he meets up with you to talk giggling or make short laughs any time he tries to make you laugh;

your hand on his hand, hug him when you see him, etc. Signs he is interested as well.

6. Flirt. It's like giving him hints, but a tad bit more advanced. Look for signs that tell he is interested as well.

3. C. Give him hints to show you're interested in him. Simple things like smiling at him is not so hard.

KISS.

5. Become Friends. To become friends with him, do the same as you did when you became friends with a guy you don't have a crush on.

1. Make sure he's single. You don't want to get a boy to kiss you and his girlfriend

7. Make your move. Tell your crush to meet you somewhere you know personally that not a lot of people go. But don't choose to meet each other in an alley.

"him".

Sometimes girls, have trouble figuring out if they really do have a crush on Crush on.

Find out you've kissed him, that could get ugly.